

In Atlanta, his
h o m e t o w n

Todd Murphy

has been well received by the Art Establishment. But it seems everyone else in the Atlanta and Athens art scene is a devotee. Though he was born 30 years ago in Chicago, he is a graduate of the University of Georgia in fine arts and currently resides in Atlanta where he is represented by the Lowe Gallery. Murphy works in mixed media, incorporating his striking photography with oil, tar and placid. He did an LP cover for the Indigo

Girls and works in his studio listening to CDs by Enya, Pearl Jam, REM and Vivaldi. His work can currently be seen at the Treco Museum in Santa Clara, the Wichita Art Museum and the Columbus Museum of Fine Arts. Among his avid collectors are Michael Stipe, Elton John, Sting, Babyface, Sugar Ray Leonard, Eric Avery and Marcus Allen. / JACK BASHER
